MOTIVATIONAL SPEAKER,
PASTOR, & BODY, MIND,
AND SPIRIT ADVOCATE

MEDIA KIT

Dr. Stephen Ko is a passionate speaker who delivers life-changing messages to audiences worldwide. Communicated with honesty and humor, he is among a handful of individuals with technical expertise in science, medicine, and theology. But his combination of pastoral and medical experiences coupled with sound exegetical and theological insight that set him apart. He is a much-needed voice for times such as these.

Greetings!

MOTIVATIONAL SPEAKER, PASTOR, & BODY,
MIND, AND SPIRIT ADVOCATE

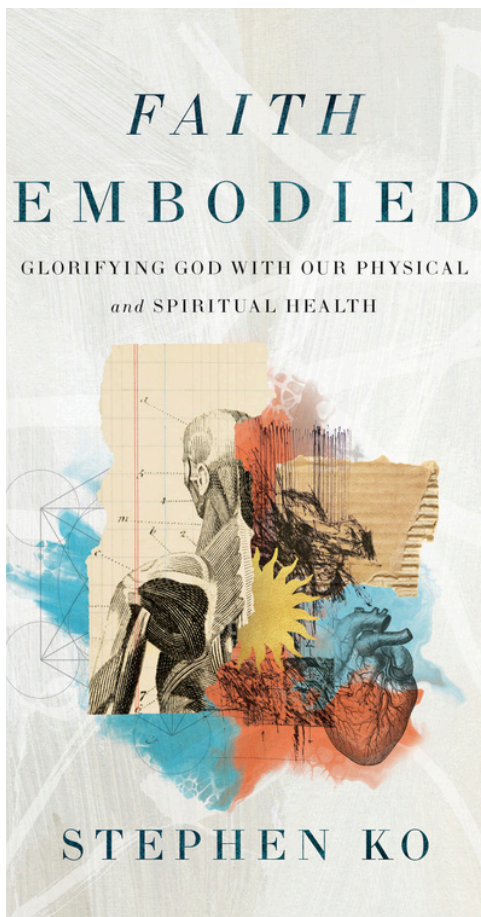

Dr. Stephen Ko has served most recently as Senior Pastor of New York Chinese Alliance Church, Christian & Missionary Alliance Church in Manhattan. He has also worked as a Medical Officer for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). As a pediatrician, epidemiologist, and public health expert, Dr. Ko is well attuned to the effects of disease on individuals and their impact on society. With a unique background (M.D., MA, MPH, MDiv), he is among a handful of interdisciplinary writers at the intersection of faith, medicine, and public health. His unique background and expertise lend a compelling voice to the issues raised by this book.

THE BOOK

For those who follow Christ, a natural tension exists between our bodies as a temple of the Holy Spirit and the clarion call to sacrifice these vessels for the sake of others. It's easy to overlook what God created as instruments through which the Holy Spirit works. Often, we thwart the Creator's design by ignoring our vision, hearing, breathing, even flesh and bones. If we truly understand what it means for our body and spirit—that incarnational worship, living, and health are not only possible but God's expressed will—we will live transformed lives and reflect the One who was born incarnate. We will live embodied faith.

JUST A WORD

"I welcome the opportunity to dive into a topic that can revolutionize how we approach the vital intersection of faith and the whole person God created."
